

STATE READY
TO CALL UP
DRAFTED MENOFFICIAL ORDERS FROM WASH-INGTON ARE AWAITED BE-FORE MEN WILL BE EXAMINED.

CAN BEGIN AT ONCE

Adjutant General Holway Announces Wisconsin Will Complete Draft As Fast As Federal Orders Will Permit.

BULLETIN.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Washington, July 23.—Registrants under the selective draft law are not eligible for voluntary enlistment in the regular army or national guard after their names have been posted by local exemption boards as summoned for examination. Brigadier General Crowder, provost marshal general, promulgated the ruling today to mark the definite status of men on registration lists who now may desire to join the regular or national guards.

Madison, July 23.—Just as soon as word is received from Washington to proceed with physical examination under the draft, Adjutant General Holway says work will be started.
"As I understand the law and the draft regulations, we are not to begin the work of examining the men under the draft until we have further instructions," said Adjutant General Holway. "This state is ready. We can begin work at once."

Local boards will pass on the men under the draft. Appeals will be taken to central boards of which there will be three in the eastern central district and two in the western central district of Wisconsin. Adjutant General Holway said that while these appeal boards already had been appointed by the president in thirty-three states, no appeal board had as yet been made for Wisconsin.

Await Official Draft List.

Secretary of War Wood's local exemption board for the first Rock county district was waiting today for the official list of the serial numbers arranged in the order in which they were drawn at Washington last Friday, before work could go forward in determining officially the names of the men liable for call in the first draft.
As soon as the list is received, work will be started in listing the names to correspond with the serial numbers, something after the manner in which the first 360 names appeared in Saturday's issue of the Gazette. The central registration list will be made up in order so that a man can regard it as just where he stands with regard to his liability to call on his future service.

Begin Examining This Week?

It is possible that the first one-third of the quota to be called up for physical examination from the first Rock county district may be ordered to appear before the examining physician of the local board before the end of the week. This will depend, however, on the promptness with which the official list of serial numbers is received from the provost marshal general's office, and whether the government will give orders to proceed at this early date.
The local exemption board is now fully organized and will be ready to carry on its part of the draft work with the utmost dispatch.

What is true of the first Rock county

district is also true of the second, with headquarters at Beloit. The second district has a larger number of enlisted men to take care of, however, the total being 2,376 against 2,376 for the northern district.

A Few Changes Noted.

In another column the Gazette is announcing a dozen or more changes in the list of names published on Saturday. Registered men should be sure to note them. It is also well that all registered men to bear in mind that the Gazette's list, while it may be as correct as could possibly be, is not so early a date for the drawing, is not official and registered men should make sure whether or not they are in the first 500 or 600 drawn by consulting the official list which will be posted in a few days at the court house.

It is planned to send every man who may be called up for examination an official notice giving the date on which he is supposed to appear, but failure to receive a mailed notice is no excuse for a man not appearing in the proper order.

Full List to Appear Later.

The remaining serial numbers not yet published for the Janesville district will appear in the order in which they were drawn at Washington. The names, however, will not appear in the Gazette some day this week. The work of listing the names in this fashion is being hurried as much as possible.

DUTCH SEND EXPORT

MISSION TO U. S.

AMSTERDAM, July 23.—The minister of agriculture and commerce has appointed a commission of three to proceed to America to represent Dutch interests in connection with American exports.

WEATHER THIS WEEK:

SHOWERS, THEN COOL

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Washington, July 23.—Weather predictions for the week in the Great Lake region: Continued warm with occasional thunder showers; cooler after Wednesday.

Attention: Ladies of the G. A. R. of

Gen. Charles F. R. Circle. All members are requested to take the two o'clock car and meet at the chapel Tuesday afternoon to attend the funeral of our late sister, Mattie Per-ker. The circle's ceremony will be conducted at the grave. Alice E. Mc-son, president.

Additional Names
of Registered Men
In the Order Drawn

Following are 150 additional names of registered men in the Janesville district showing their position in the draft. Some 560 names were published in the Saturday issue of the Gazette. The list given below is a continuation of that list giving the serial numbers and corresponding names for the district in the order of the drawing which determines the liability for military service in the national army. Men whose names appear between 400 and 500, will probably be liable to call in case a second quota is taken.

MINORS AFFECTED BY NEW SCHOOL STATUTES

CITIES HAVING VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS SEEK INFORMATION.—STATE BOARD HAS CHARGE OF AFFAIRS.

CHANGES ARE MANY

Laws Undergo Revision and Various Parts Are Revised to Eliminate Mistakes of Previous Statutes.

Madison, Wis., July 21.—The thirty cities of the state having vocational training schools are making considerable interest in the new law passed by the legislature changing the administrative powers of the new board. Radical changes have been made in many of the laws relating to minors at the last session and the manufacturers of the state have written many letters to the industrial board of education in the last few days asking for complete information regarding the laws affecting minors.

New legislation concerning vocational education enacted during the 1917 session of the Wisconsin legislature provides as follows:

1. It places the entire power of administration and supervision in a state board composed as follows:

Ex-officio—

State superintendent of schools.

Member of State Industrial Commission.

2. It defines the powers and duties of the state board as follows:

Control state aid.

Meet quarterly and otherwise as necessary.

Report biennially.

Employ assistants.

Direct development and supervision of vocational schools.

Inaugurate and determine organization, plans, scope of vocational schools.

Approve courses of study.

3. It accepts the terms of the Smith-Hughes bill concerning federal aid for vocational education and designates the state board as the state aid committee with the federal department. It designates the state treasurer as the custodian of all federal funds for vocational education.

4. It changes the name of the State Board of Industrial Education to the State Board of Vocational Education and designates the schools coming under the jurisdiction of this board as vocational schools, instead of industrial, commercial, continuation or evening, as formerly.

5. It provides that local boards of industrial education may erect buildings and define the manner of letting contracts.

6. It provides that, beginning with September 1, 1917, in places where vocational schools are maintained all minors between fourteen and sixteen years of age, residing or employed in that place, and not attending any other school, or not indentured as apprentices according to section 2377, shall attend vocational school eight hours a week for at least eight months of the year and such additional months or parts thereof as the other public schools of such city, town or village are in session in excess of eight during the regular school year.

7. It provides that, after September 1, 1918, in cities where vocational schools are maintained all minors between sixteen and seventeen years of age, residing or employed in that place, and not attending any other school, or not indentured as apprentices according to section 2377, shall attend vocational school four hours a week for at least eight months of the year and such additional months or parts thereof as the other public schools of such city, town or village are in session in excess of eight during the regular school year.

8. It provides that, after September 1, 1918, in places where vocational schools are maintained all minors between sixteen and seventeen years of age, residing or employed in that place, and not attending any other school, or not indentured as apprentices according to section 2377, shall attend vocational school four hours a week for at least eight months of the year and such additional months or parts thereof as the other public schools of such city, town or village are in session in excess of eight during the regular school year.

9. It provides that, after September 1, 1918, in places where vocational schools are maintained all minors between sixteen and seventeen years of age, residing or employed in that place, and not attending any other school, or not indentured as apprentices according to section 2377, shall attend vocational school four hours a week for at least eight months of the year and such additional months or parts thereof as the other public schools of such city, town or village are in session in excess of eight during the regular school year.

10. It provides that permits to work must be issued by minors between fourteen and seventeen years of age before they are employed. This applies also in cities where vocational schools are maintained, to domestic service except of a casual nature.

11. This permit was formerly required only between fourteen and sixteen years of age, and did not apply to those employed in domestic service.

12. It provides that school attendance officers shall enforce attendance at vocational schools.

13. It authorizes cities to increase the mill tax for vocational schools from one-half mill to three-fourths mill.

14. It provides that state aid schools shall be distributed as follows:

"Section 2633 (2). The remainder shall be distributed for state aid for vocational schools established and maintained pursuant to subsection (1) of section 4115 and any school once granted such state aid shall be entitled thereto as long as the school is in operation and the approval of the state board of vocational education."

"Section 4115 (1). In every town or village or city of over five thousand inhabitants there shall be established in towns, cities and villages of less than five thousand inhabitants there may be a local board of industrial education, whose duty shall be to establish, foster and maintain vocational schools for instruction in trades and industries, commerce and household arts in part-time day, all-day and evening classes and such other branches as are enumerated in section 4117."

"Section 4117 (1). The qualifications of teachers and the courses of study in these schools shall be approved by the state board of vocational education, and shall include English, citizenship, physical education, sanitation and hygiene and the use of safety devices, and such other branches as the state board of vocational education shall approve."

15. It provides that an annual report shall be rendered by the various local boards of industrial education to the state board of vocational education on which state aid is based.

This report shall include the following:

Character of the work done.

Number, names and qualifications of teacher.

Costs.

Other information as required by the state board.

COMPANY M ENTERS LAST WEEK AT HOME

Local Unit Prepares for Movement to Camp Douglas Not Later Than Middle of Week.

With a total of one hundred and fifty-three men enrolled in Company M, with an improvement in the recruits sufficient to take the entire company out for their first hike as a single unit, the local national guard unit entered upon their last few days of training at their headquarters in preparation for the mobilization which is expected not later than the middle of the week.

The appearance of Captain E. N. Caldwell at the armory for a short time this afternoon was the cause of much rejoicing among the men. Captain Caldwell had been confined in Mercy hospital with a severe attack of pleurisy, but has again returned to his home, and will soon be able to take up the duties of his command.

Three new men enlisted over the weekend, Otto Berger, Knapp, and George Hill, and in addition to these five more took out their applications. Now that the draft has been made, and the young men of the city have learned the order of mobilization, will be called into duty, a big increase is expected in the recruiting, and many company members look for a strength of 600 before the unit leaves for Camp Douglas.

Through the entire battalion of cavalry at Milwaukee left early this morning for the state mobilization camp, and the first regiment of infantry, of which Company M is a unit, is scheduled to go into camp immediately after the cavalry's mobilization, no order have been received at the local armory. It is the belief of company officers that the adjutant general will give the company but short notice, that they may be called at any time, and the mobilization policy has been adopted in many communities, and until all the men have reached the camp, movements of troops will be kept as secret as is possible.

AUTO TOUR TO STOP OVER NIGHT IN CITY

Janesville Included in Itinerary of Milwaukee Auto Dealers' Easter Fair.

Janesville will be the first night's stop on the big annual booster tour of the Milwaukee Automobile Dealers' association, August twentieth.

This decision was reached by the Milwaukee dealers after they had visited the city and had learned of some of the things which would be done for their entertainment.

The tour, comprising some hundreds of people in about sixty automobiles, starts from Milwaukee on August 20th, making Janesville their first night out, and then hitting north for over eight hundred miles before their return to Milwaukee six days later.

Accompanying the expedition will be a number of orators, possibly including Governor Philipp, who will make addresses at every stopping point in the interests of the 1917 state fair. The itinerary of the run will include seventy-four villages and cities, with Beloit, the southern terminus, the Dells, Wisconsin, the northern terminus, and Shawano the northern terminus.

Under the direction of A. E. Kemmerer, chairman of the local reception committee, a big program of entertainment is being planned for the tourists during their brief stay in Janesville. A large delegation of motorists, representing the local dealers and the Commercial club will drive out to meet the country to meet the visitors, and a big parade, headed by the Bower City Band and the boosters' band of local places will accompany the tour. Many other arrangements are being undertaken now by Mr. Kemmerer.

On the morning of August twenty-first, the tourists are scheduled to leave for Beloit, then to Oshkosh, Brodhead, Juda, Monroe, Monticello, Albany, Evansville, Brooklyn, Stoughton, Oregon and Madison. On their run to Janesville, the men will make stops at Palmyra, Watrous, Port Atkinson, Milton and Edgerton.

The committee assisting Mr. Kemmerer in preparing for the reception of the guests includes Roy Wisner, chairman of the Commercial club, and H. J. Roy, representing the Commercial club.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor Gazette:

The writer would like to be heard among and with the "Voice of the People" in your columns, and would speak in no uncertain way. As a loyal citizen I desire to offer a protest against that class of our citizens who from the outset of the war now upon us have been shouting for the fatherland and denouncing everything American. We have about us many of this class, and their boldness is daily becoming more pronounced. For the time they heeded the situation and the words of the attorney general to "keep their mouths shut." Just now when our boys are beginning to march away to give their lives, if need be, for their country, all classes of people should bid the Godspeed and a return, if possible, to their loved ones. What could be more exasperating than to see and hear a class of citizens denounce it all.

Look in no vain for such a class in the terrible disaster had occurred at Beloit, and that a large manufacturing plant had been blown up and hundreds of lives had been sacrificed. Immediately a class of people uttered class rejoiced. Of course, the said disaster was untrue.

A few days ago in a nearby city one of the national guard in passing looked at you for a moment and was hailed in this manner: "So you will soon be off to the war, and I hope you will be killed." There are strangers among us that we can but believe are here for a purpose. Their habitations are with those who do not hesitate to denounce everything American. This is a time, in our judgment, for all to show their colors.

Look at you for a moment in some parts of our city, and you will fail to show the same on their person in diminutive form. Could such a state of affairs at the present time exist under such circumstances be tolerated in fatherland? Not for a moment. Go back to the great civil war in our country or to the Spanish-American war, where patriotic pride and loyalty were practically unknown. In those trying times the Stars and Stripes were everywhere hailed with intense delight. There should be no less loyalty and patriotism now at the present very critical time. With emphasis, we would say to each and every disloyal person, the time has come to "put up or shut up."

Spanish-American Veteran.

NECESSARY TO ORDER GROCERIES AND MEATS TOMORROW

The grocery and butcher stores of the city will be closed all day Wednesday, on account of the grocers' and butchers' picnic, so that it will be necessary to order two days' supplies tomorrow. Several of the grocers have listed their offerings for tomorrow on the back page of tonight's issue.

GRAFT IN TOMBSTONES CLAIMS LOCAL DEALER

And So Edward Dobson Has Harvard, Ill., Man Arrested for Collecting Commission on Contract Never Made.

In the trend of human events of the twentieth century, even the honor to the memory of the dead is not without its particular graft, according to Edward Dobson, who conducts a monument business and grave stone cutting establishment on South Franklin street, just off Milwaukee street. Evidence of the face came out in municipal court this morning when Dobson had F. Carey, a Harvard, Ill., man, facing Judge H. L. Maxfield on a state warrant alleging the obtaining of a commission on a tombstone contract under false pretenses, the collection of $35 commission on a tombstone contract which never was made.

Carey waived examination and was held for trial on Aug. 16.

Dobson's complaint says Carey came to him and claimed to have a contract from Charles F. Day of Beloit for the erection of a grave marker to cost two hundred and seventy-five dollars. Carey wanted to get rid of the contract and so gave it to Dobson for a commission. This was thirty-five dollars.

Then he began to look up Charles F. Day. He discovered that there was no such person. Neither could any record of the contract be located in the county records.

Then he got a warrant for Carey. This was some time ago. Carey was brought before the court and demanded an examination. Today he waived it and was held for trial.

How To Overcome Foot Troubles

If you have tired, burning, aching feet, corns or painful callouses, you know only too well the misery and torture that they bring. It is unnecessary, however, to suffer longer with any of these foot troubles. Go to your druggist and get a small tin of Ice-Mint. Rub a little of this cooling, healing, discovery on your tired, aching, corn-pestered, swollen feet. Instantly the pain of corn and callouses vanishes. And shortly the most stubborn and painful hard corns, soft corns, corns between the toes, or aching callouses, will shrivel up and lift off your feet. Rub the Ice-Mint on the corns, and all the trouble is gone. Ice-Mint costs little, is easy and delightful to apply and aside from removing every corn or callous will keep your feet cool, easy and comfortable even on the hottest days. Try it. There is nothing better.

PRICE FIXING BILL IS GIVEN APPROVAL

Washington, July 21.—Preliminary food control bill late today, the senate without a roll call adopted the bipartisan leader compromise for the minimum price fixing section. It authorizes the government a guaranteed price for wheat only of not less than $3.00 per standard bushel until January 1, 1918, payable at the principle interior primary market.

The amendment of Senator Pommerne authorizing the president through the federal trade commission to fix prices of coal and coke during the war to take over at reasonable price and operate coal mines and to regulate wholesale and retail distribution and wages of coal miners was adopted 72 to 12.

What Are You Prepared To Do?

This is the question before every young man and woman at this crisis in our country's history

Thousands of our young men from the farm, the factory and the office are joining the army and the navy to fight for liberty and democracy. Who will take their places? THE CALL IS CLEAR.

The fields and factories do not require the same highly developed skill and training as offices. Besides, there is plenty of untrained. The big cry—the big loss—the big demand will be for TRAINED, INTELLIGENT help. UNCLE SAM ALONE HAS CALLED FOR 5000 TRAINED WORKERS.

A few months with us adds thousands to your earning power.

CUT OUT THE WASTE.

The Rock County Threshermen's association appeals to the farmers to work with them along lines of economy, by saving needless waste. The association regards as a patriotic duty to aid in conserving the resources of the country, and to this end agrees to do its part. The small advance of rates for threshing, made necessary by the high cost of everything, they argue, can be paid by cutting out the waste, and working together. The suggestion is commendable and should be adopted.

STILL WAITING.

National guard units, which include many Rock County young men, are still waiting the call to assemble at the state camp for equipment and final instruction before being sent to some southern camp where they will receive the finishing touches for actual service across the water. Meanwhile these boys who enlisted are drilling and perfecting themselves in the school of the soldier. Those in uniforms and those with the designated ribbon showing they are called men on the march, are found on the drill grounds and on the drill grounds and they should be treated with respect. They have proven their patriotism by enlisting and are now prepared to prove their efficiency where they may be needed. They are with us today and tomorrow may be ordered away for a long tour of duty, and the foreign soldier, who is a nervous fellow, is now with us and they are away.

MERELY REITERATION.

While this nation waited the result of the selective draft and its reception, Chancellor Michaelis, the new leader of Germany, delivered his address before the Reichstag in Berlin. As one editorial writer states: "Chancellor Michaelis' Reichstag speech, as it is reported by way of Copenhagen, is, for the most part, a reiteration of what has been said before. As a criminal in a court of justice, Germany has been tried before the bar of civilization. The indictment has included responsibility for provoking an unjust war, violation of international law in its submarine campaign and in its atrocious conduct of the war. On every count the indictment has pronounced Germany guilty. After conviction upon the undisputed facts no mere reiteration of innocence can change the verdict.

"There are two points in the speech that are important, not for what they express in terms, but for what they unintentionally reveal. One is the result of the submarine warfare. When this campaign of 'trickery' was inaugurated, the German people were told it was their last resort, and it was expected within a short period to bring England to her knees. Victory was pictured as within their grasp. They had but to fling aside the last shred of respectability and throw themselves into a campaign of art and brutality, rivals the deeds of ancient Nineveh, and they would win. But the popular idol, Hindenburg, has but recently told them if the army held out until the submarine accomplished its end, they would be victorious. Now, after nearly six months of this form of warfare, the chancellor says the submarine campaign will impinge the economic life of England!

"The other point is the affected belittlement of the United States. A military diplomacy that despised all its enemies at the beginning of the war is lighting now with its back to the wall. It would be an insult to its intelligence to say that it is repeating those same mistakes now. The speech itself suggests that the government, which has never hesitated at deceit and falsehood, is deliberately deceiving its own people. Just as it has some time ago, it is now before a desperate chance. But whatever their opinion of us may be, it matters little. The fact remains that Germany, unbeaten, still glories in all her crimes against civilization and will commit fresh ones if victorious, beside which the past ones will pale into insignificance. Upon us rests a duty to 'fight a good fight'."

SAVE NECESSITIES.

The senate of the United States has finally agreed a food bill which brings into the issue the question of food conservation and many other important questions. Some of the items especially interesting to the general public and what is planned to do as regards them are the following:

Wheat—The senate bill sets a minimum of $2 a bushel on best grades, payable at all primary markets, July 1, 1918, and proportionate rates on other grades. The house bill merely provided for fixing a minimum price without specifying that price.

Coal—The senate bill grants to the government power to control the supply and price of coal through the federal trade commission or if necessary to take over the mines, operate them, and fix the price of labor.

Liquor—The senate bill forbids the use of foodstuffs in the distilling of alcoholic liquors and provides for the purchase by the government of all bonded liquors. The senate omitted the prohibition against wines and beers which was contained in the house measure.

ADMINISTRATION—The senate bill provides for control by a commission of three instead of the one man control under Herbert C. Hoover sought in the house bill.

GASOLINE—The senate bill includes gasoline and kerosene in the list to be controlled. Neither was mentioned in the house bill.

LICENSES—The senate bill made more specific the businesses which must obtain government licenses, including farmers and gardeners' cooperative associations, which the house bill omitted.

HOARDING—The senate added clauses for the punishment of those hoarding supplies and granting the president power to close grain exchanges, if necessary to prevent trading in grain.

REQUISITIONS—The senate authorized the president to requisition supplies needed for the army and navy and in addition permits the government purchase of these commodities.

odities: Fuel, wheat, flour, meal, provisions, and potatoes.

Twelve thousand eight hundred and seventy six will be selected as Wisconsin's share in the new draft. This means that aside from the enlistments in various branches of the government service already made, including the national guard, the state will further be depleted by the absence of some of our best and bravest of young men whose places must be taken by others who have not been called or who for some ailment cannot serve in the active line of the national defense.

The river has strange attractions for the youth these hot days, and small wonder. Would it not be fine if there was a wonderfully clear, pure swimming pool to cool off in by a plunge?

Those people who a year or two ago were going to put a substitute for gasolene on the market at three cents a gallon, nobly and persistently resisting the call to a very illustrious fame.

After rejoicing in the quiet of the Mexican border recently, President Wilson should give three distinct knocks on wood, and have Secretary Tamm witness the same.

It seems strange to many people that the navy does not issue a full description of how every submarine is sunk so that the Germans will know what to look out for next time.

The biggest fish is always the one that got away, but sometimes the big fish get caught as evidenced by the selective draft which was no respecter of personages in making selections for the new army.

Facing the necessity of making some response to the popular demands, the Kaiser puts in new chancellors who will give the people even less than before.

Viewing the advance of woman suffrage, many men inquire, What are we going to do with Woman? What is Woman going to do with us? would be more pertinent.

Pretty hard to get the food bill through congress when it is simply for the benefit of the whole country instead of for some separate districts.

Probably the drafted men will never feel quite so badly under fire as they did in grabbing the newspaper to see if their names were drawn.

What the country wants in this ship building row is more noise of the hammer and less clicking of typewriters.

The bathing suit joke is not much heard from this year as there isn't enough of it left to crack a joke on.

ROY E. MOULTON

THE BEST BET.
He isn't dead above the ears.
Who grabs each joy as it appears,
He's happy, he's wise, he does it right.

Who finds his pleasure and delight
In what is with him here and now,
Few wrinkles ride upon his brow,
Who cops the moments as they fly.

Though you may slip them eighty cents,
These wise old birds, these bearded gents,
Can't figure out the great Perhaps
For all the whiskers on their maws;
What is to be is never seen,
And he has bonedust in his bean,
Whoever sniffs, sobs or swears
For what has gone—and gone for keeps.

Now is the time to cop the cheer,
Now is the time to place a bet.
If you would make a bit at all,
Or tear the cover off the ball,
Hop to before you run to fat,
And while you have a turn at bat,
Who nabs his pleasure on the fly,
He is the happy little guy.

And so we never doubt him.

Insurance Agents.
As a rule a pencil looks harmless enough, but let an insurance agent start flourishing a pencil and it takes on a new aspect. It becomes an instrument of horror. It seems to nerve one.

Never let an insurance agent take out his pencil.
After he has given you your pick of sixteen sorts of dreadful deaths and has provided for all contingencies, he sharpens his pencil some more and begins to maim and cripple you for life. It is a terrible thing to see an insurance agent sharpen a pencil on your nose.

One doesn't feel safe alone with a man like that. One starts nervously with each hack at the pencil.

When he has broken both legs and cut all your fingers off the insurance agent's little sum on an envelope and then offers you $2,700 for the damage done. If you will let him slice off one ear he will make it $3,000 even.

Furthermore, if you let him cut your nose off several vertebrae of the spine he'll pay you $15 a week till you're on your feet again.

The insurance agent's life isn't all fun, however. Sometimes he meets roughing customers and has to stout towels in their mouths or open their collars and fan them till they recover.

Knitting.
They're knitting now, the girls, you know.
For now it's proper and befitting,

RECLAIMING JUNK FROM BATTLEFIELDS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

With the British armies in the field July 21—Did you ever stop to think what becomes of all the worn-out equipment of an army composed of millions of men?

At the outset of the present war much of this was pure loss. Now in the British army there is an "old clothes man" and the profits he makes from his book, John Bull, might make Morgan, Rockefeller or Carnegie envious.

The old clothes man "saves" the scraps. He makes new things out of old. He cleans the battlefields of old camps and very little is wasted nowadays. His job is to collect everything from a horseshoe nail to a discarded siege gun and put it back into commission.

Brass objects which have lost their usefulness are melted into ingots; cast iron junk becomes pig iron again; bronze, tin, steel, and every other thing of the kind which has irretrievably lost its shape is put into melting pots to be born again in another guise, keeping up an eternal transmigration but serving all the while.

I recently visited one of these scrap-saving and repair shops. About 12,000 people are employed, mostly French women and girls.

Great howitzers are repaired and government chronometers have their hair-springs adjusted; tents are patched and mended; new uniforms are made; and many other things are repaired and micrometers put true again. There is a wood-working shop, a foundry for iron brass, and a repair department, a great machine shop, a gas mask repair department and many others.

In one room there were hundreds and hundreds of rifles. "This is one day's arrivals," the commanding officer explained. "By tonight the room must be cleared up. Many of the rifles were muddy and rusty as though picked out of the mud on the battlefield. Women were cleaning these. In one corner a soldier was rhythmically sawing away at a rifle. The officer explained that the rifle was so rusty that it would be a waste of time to repair other parts of the rifle if the barrel was damaged. These rifles pass on down the line. When they reach the front they are packed in boxes and shipped back to the front.

Edgerton News

Edgerton, July 23.—F. O. Holt will address the audience at the Lyric Theatre this evening on the subject "Why We Are Fighting." He will speak for four minutes, and under the auspices of the four-minute men. The four minute men is a special publicity service, giving four minute talks by local volunteers.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clark and daughter, Ethel of Michigan City, Ind., are here on a visit to the city.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. McLean and daughter, Ethel of Michigan City, Ind., are here on a visit to the city.

The Travers Wick Chautauqua system will open in Edgerton July 26th, under the auspices of the Federation of the Travers Wick Chautauqua.

The program for the first day, Thursday, is as follows: First day, afternoon, opening concert by the Metropolitan Sextette; lecture, "People We Meet," Robert L. Kemple; musical prelude by the Metropolitan Sextette.

Roscoe McIntosh was down from Madison for a week end stay in the city. He was accompanied by a school friend, C. Crane.

Mr. Lipke, who is constructing highways in Sauk county, was a week end visitor at the home of relatives in the city.

Mrs. Webster and son and daughter accompanied by Miss Esther Bardeen motored from Fenimore Sunday and were week end visitors at the Bardeen home in this city.

Rollin Kellogg had his nose broken yesterday while watching the ball game at Gibbs Lake. A foul tip was responsible for the accident. Quite a number of Edgerton people attended the game, which was given under the auspices of the Leyden Creamery company. W. H. Dougherty of Janesville gave an address in the morning and Fred Holt spoke in the afternoon.

At the dance given Saturday evening the company fund was swelled $147. The new photograph has arrived and is now in the armory. The last of the week William McIntosh and Rollin Williams received their discharge from the company.

Several automobiles are lacking to make the trip to Janesville tomorrow, and any one having a car that they are willing to go kindly make it known.

The fault lies with both managers and players. Corrective methods are being applied, but at present those most interested are far from a solution. At first blush it seems that the game has retrograded, or that less capable thinkers have found their way into the sport.

The former theory is exploded when the mechanical perfection of the pastime is taken into consideration, but managers will explain that there is something to the second. The explanation is offered by some that the players now are allowed to think for themselves and consequently get no mental exercise, and by others that stars of the major leagues are not seasoned enough before they are shunted into the big ring. Fortunately, with only one major league, the springs for ball players were not as many as today.

If Cleveland could do as well against the other teams in its league as it has against the Red Sox the American league pennant surely would fly in that section of the country anyhow; but while the White Sox are going strongly it must always be remembered that the Red Sox among the greatest stretch runners in baseball history.

Evansville News

Evansville, July 23.—Mr. and Mrs. John Stair received a post card from their son, Theodore, who enlisted for service in the United States navy two years ago. He is a member of the crew on board the U. S. S. Seattle.

No word has been received from him for four months and this card came Saturday afternoon. In the message received four months ago he was not allowed to tell the whereabouts of the Seattle, only that "it was very warm where he was and he could bathe in the sea every day."

The inference drawn was that in all probability the boat was stationed at some of the islands to the south belonging to the United States—perhaps Cuba. This latest card is postmarked at some port in France, but it is so blurred that it cannot be read.

He has written "I am on my way to Paris. Will write when I get back." Probably meaning that he had a shore leave and would spend it in Paris and would write again when he returned to the boat.

Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Denison have returned from Found Lake, where they have been the guests of R. M. Antes and family.

James Fritz and daughter of Whit, Ing, Knuss, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Sharmon at their home on South First street.

Lloyd Barnard of Janesville spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Barnard.

Theodore Dandlicher of West Allis was a recent guest of friends in this city.

Mrs. David Clark of Janesville and Mr. and Mrs. George Clark and family of Rock Prairie motored to Evansville on Sunday and were guests at the Edwin Cary home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Eager have gone on an auto trip to Door county. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shevland of Beloit announce the arrival of a daughter, born July 18. Mr. Shevland was formerly Miss Eva Park of this city.

Miss Ruth Christman is the guest of Clinton relatives.

Malcolm Allen is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Bert Hile, in Madison.

Charles Decker has purchased a new automobile.

Among those from Evansville who attended the hop given at Lake Kegonsa, Saturday evening, were Lyle Porter and two out-of-town friends, Calvert Cain, Zala Miller, Mr. Gibbs, and the Misses Bernadine Gillman, Martha Holmes, and others.

Guest Miss Marie Ferguson, and Isabelle Greenwood and Leila Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Devue and son, Leonard, are spending some time at their cottage at the lake.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mayor of Janesville motored to Evansville, Saturday evening.

Mrs. C. E. Park has returned from an extended visit in Nebraska and Denver, Colorado.

Mrs. Mary McGott of Janesville is the guest of relatives here.

Mrs. Parke Richmond, who has been a guest at the Curtis and Locke Pierce homes, left for her Chicago home Saturday evening.

Harry McKinney was here from Janesville for a visit with his parents.

Mrs. Althea Howard has gone to Cameron for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Call from Beloit were Sunday guests of Mrs. Stanford.

Mrs. Robert Acheson and daughter, Ruth, and Mr. and Mrs. Will Brown motored to Footville, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fuller were numbered among the Evansville people who motored to Janesville, Sunday.

Miss Gladys Blunt entertained eight girl friends recently at her home on West Liberty street. The party was in honor of her birthday anniversary and all the little guests had a delightful time.

Master Donald Tolles is visiting his cousin, Rolfe Pierce.

Mr. and Mrs. Royal Clark and son were Sunday guests at the O. C. Colony home.

Mrs. Richard Williams left Thursday for Viola, Wis., for a visit with relatives.

Rev. E. C. Coon and family were guests of Evansville friends last week.

Miss Laura Hile has returned from Madison where she has been spending her vacation, and resumed her duties at the Grange store.

Miss Nellie Hedron has been in Miss Hile's place during her absence and Miss Grace Haylett substituted for Miss Hedron. Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Shaw and Miss Anna Noyes were guests at the home of Mrs. Ben Snyder in Brooklyn at a dinner given last Friday evening in honor of her son, who was home from Virginia.

Red Cross Notes.
When Mrs. C. M. Smith returns from Chicago where she has been taking a special course in surgical dressings from the Red Cross school, she will supervise the work of making a box of surgical supplies. All who wish to volunteer for this work register at once with Dr. Evans.

The idea seems to be prevalent with many that there is much criticism about the work that is being done for and in the name of the Red Cross. That much of the work done has been inspected and thrown out. That the Red Cross standard has been set so high that only accomplished seamstresses could fulfill the requirements. These reports are untrue and without foundation. There is no woman who cannot do the work required acceptably.

Monday have been set aside for the young girls to meet at the city hall and do their part in this great work. Every day there is work to be done and helpers to show how and what to do.

Here avoid confusion. Gazette subscribers are requested to wait until the papers are delivered, NOT to get them from the station.

AN IRON CROSS.
If you value your health don't wear an iron cross on your hat. What the inscription, in Janesville. You may not suffer the ignominy of public arrest by secret service operatives, but you can ruin your bottom dollar by your dear friends won't recognize your familiar physiognomy the next morning.

You've heard of the man who once suggested sticks of dynamite. Well, that self-same individual leisurely strolled into a buffet Saturday evening, just while the old cuckoo clock announced the hour of eight.

But this time the dynamite mite stunt was dispensed with and our stellar actor wore an iron cross prominently displayed upon his coat.

"Off with the junk!" roared the patriotic bartender, as his eyes lighted upon the iron cross and the deeply engraved inscription "To (picture of a helmet) der Kaiser."

"Jump in the moon," was the quick retort.

And then the unexpected happened. The patriotic bartender never had the honor of representing this community at the Olympic Games, but if the official badge of humanity to the day night they would have stared papeyed while the high jumping record was being smashed in front of their very faces.

With one wild leap he cleared the bar and landed squarely upon the doomed possessor of the iron cross.

When the cuckoo announced the quarter hour, two sympathetic citizens were just attempting to carry a distorted specimen of humanity to the street. But a certain "iron cross" was safely in the possession of our hero.

Which only proves that you don't have to fight for Henderson to win an iron cross.

LIFE OF "TANKER" NOT AN EASY ONE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

British Headquarters in France, by mail, July 23.—Under the shelter of a green ridge of shell-pocked farmland, about fifteen miles behind the present front line trenches, one may come upon the encampment of the tankers.

A dozen of the monsters are lying stretched out in the warm afternoon sun, being combed, oiled and scoured by their industrious attendants, who are like mere meddling pigmies by the side of the great steel steeds.

The job of a tank man is no sinecure. The interior is not built for comfort. It is crowded with machinery and guns and armor, and in motion the deck sways and bucks like that of a little torpedo boat in a storm. Nor is the roof high enough to prevent danger of receiving sound thumping if one is too tall.

Men for tanks are picked for small stature and slender bulk. They must be tough as nails, but occupy no unnecessary space. A fat man would stick in the manhole which is alike an entrance and exit. A tall man would have to spend his time in a half erect posture, which would interfere with that of everybody on board.

If you would spend a few minutes aboard a tank, you must have your steel helmet with you and your radio carefully encased in its waterproof bag ready for emergency. Climbing through the manhole requires a little knack of its own. Legs first is the approved technique. Although with practice there appears good grounds for the believing that the reverse process might be just as satisfactory.

With legs first, one is in danger of placing one's head and shoulders into a hot engine case, with disastrous results.

SAVES COMPANION CARRIED OVER DAM AT MONTEREY BRIDGE

Walter Schilling, Locust Street, Saves William Thomas in Near Drowning Accident Yesterday.

Caught in a double current Sunday while swimming too near the brink of the lower dam and carried over, William Thomas, aged twenty, of 814 Central avenue, owes his life to Walter Schilling, of 602 South Adams street, his companion in the water, who, when he recognized Thomas' plight, swam with all speed to the bank and running downstream, jumped into the swirling water among the large sharp rocks just above the Northwestern railroad bridge, grabbed the lifeless form by the hair and brought it safely to shore. First aid rendered by the swimmer from the nearby bushes, and the city's lungmotor did the rest. Thomas today appeared to suffer little serious after-effects.

Schilling today is hailed a hero by all his acquaintances. His presence of mind in swimming to shore when he saw that Thomas, an expert swimmer, could not win the battle against the swift current, is in a large way accountable for the saving of the life. Notwithstanding this, his nerve and determination to get down to the bank as the first cries of the swimmer's called attention to Thomas' perilous position.

Resuscitation work started immediately. Somebody found a pump and on it they laid the unconscious youth. Ten minutes later the lungmotor arrived. It finished the work, although when it was started working Thomas was already showing signs of life.

SPEAKS ON DAIRYING AT ROCK HILL SCHOOL

THOROUGH CANVASS OF CITY HOUSEWIVES

The local committee of the Rock County Housewives' Council are planning a house to house canvass of the city in the interest of food conservation. A pledge card will be left at each home and the housewife will be asked to assist in the conservation of foods. This work will be done at the special request of the president of the United States and for that reason is ordered by the local committee. The pledge cards are sent out by the state society and are distributed everywhere in the state. The work in the city will be begun Wednesday, and will be done under the direction of the heads of the committees in the different wards. In the first ward the director is Mrs. George Woodruff; in the second, Mrs. Francis Grant; in the third, Mrs. Bertha Devins; and in the fourth, Mrs. T. P. Burns. It is desired that the work may be completed by the 1st of August, and the assistance of all housewives may be enlisted to aid in the work. Bulletins will be received by the local committee from time to time and will be distributed among the women, giving the conservation of foods.

MACK'S EFFORTS GAINING RESPECT

New York, July 20.—More and more the efforts of Connie Mack, silent leader of the Athletics, are gaining respect among the big leaguers. The prediction made by himself when he began to challenge the stars with whom he had won several championships, that he would be back in the race by 1917, has not been realized, but he has succeeded in making the name Philadelphia once more due to be feared in the American league.

Discussing Mack and his newly made team recently, Bill Donovan said he would rather play almost any club in the league than send his men into a conflict against the Mackmen.

"They won't win any pennants this year," Donovan commented, "but they're going to fight mighty hard for every game they go into. From this time on they're going to improve. I'm a mighty mistaken student of this national pastime if the Athletics are not found kicking considerable dust around before the end of the 1918 campaign gets here."

Donovan figures—and so does every other baseball manager who has seen the Philadelphia team—that Ray Bates is one of the finest players the minor leagues have yielded in many a day. He also believes with the equal of any shortstop in the American league.

There isn't a thing wrong with that outfield of Connie Mack, Donovan remarked. "I only wish I had a pair of those birds working for me. I might have a chance to win a pennant before he makes the going to rough."

Where is the manager who wouldn't like to have Lush, Myers and Noyes pitching for him? And where, oh where, can you find a big leaguer who wouldn't spend several thousand dollars for Willie Schang's day?

The foundation has been built for another fine baseball team in Philadelphia. Managers and baseball men everywhere believe it is due.

Devastating storm hurts state crops.

Oshkosh, July 23.—Heavy wind accompanying a rain storm, approaching a cloud-burst, flattened hundreds of acres of grain in Central Wisconsin Sunday. Much of it will have to be lost.

Andrew Haseley, in the town of Black Wolf, sustained the loss of a large barn filled with hay, live stock and farm machinery which was struck by lightning Sunday afternoon.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Martha Parker, aged sixty-eight, passed away Sunday, July 22nd, at her home at 1110 Olive street. Mrs. Parker has been in ill health for about two years and her death was due to complications.

She was born in England on April 19, 1849, and came to this country in her early girlhood. She was married to Augustus Parker, who died in 1897.

Mrs. Parker is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Hattie Beck, Anna Anderson and Mrs. Sarah McCaffery, all of Janesville.

Mrs. Parker was a member of Rebekah lodge No. 71 and John Reynolds lodge No. 1. She was a very kind and generous person and her death was a great loss to her friends.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. The body will be taken to the chapel at Oak Hill cemetery where the services will be held by Rev. J. A. Melrose of the Presbyterian church.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When I left for Mexico last summer, as a member of the national guard, I left my only child in your care. I was only eighteen I felt that I could ask her to become engaged to me, although she was only sixteen. I believe that she would have been a good wife and mother. I am now a young man, twenty-three years of age, and I like a girl very much who is in my Sunday school class. The whole Sunday school is to have a picnic and I wanted to take this girl. When I asked her she thanked me and said she expected to go with the girls and could not accept my invitation. Do you think the girl tried to out me? Should I like to go with her? I am very much in love with her and I would like to take her somewhere else if I knew she would go.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My daughter is sixteen, too young to be out and has a great deal of studying to do. I am a young man, twenty-three years of age, and I like a girl very much who is in my Sunday school class. The whole Sunday school is to have a picnic and I wanted to take this girl. When I asked her she thanked me and said she expected to go with the girls and could not accept my invitation. Do you think the girl tried to out me? Should I like to go with her? I am very much in love with her and I would like to take her somewhere else if I knew she would go.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Would it be all right to go to a lake with a young man twenty-eight years old if we are properly chaperoned? There are two other girls going with me. They are fifteen and fourteen years old.

(2) Would it be all right to wear a pleated skirt, long-sleeved blouse, white oxford, white stockings and a white Panama or

"Hello, George, old man, we did not expect to see you on your feet again, so soon. Dr. Burton says you are as good as cured. You are on the Olympic club."

"On my feet! I do not understand," Barney stared at his friend, incomprehensibly.

"You were rather hard hit, you know, and you did not think you would ever cover enough to do business for some time," Dick looked fixedly at his friend as he spoke.

"The doctor said it might be some time before he would recover his memory," he thought. "Perhaps he does not know his own name at all."

"Now if you are trying to work some of your clever stunts on me, you are wasting my time. Do you mean to say you remember nothing about being in the hospital, or the journey to New York? Dick's tone was the one you use with children when trying to recall a forgotten command."

"Really, Dick, you look as solemn as an owl, as you often do when trying to get your jokes across. Drop it, will you, and let me in on your banter. I have not had a decent night's rest for a week. We were held up for twenty-four hours by a wash-out on the narrow gauge just east of Canyon City, and all night. He threw his satchel into the corner and stretched himself out on a divan."

"The opinion is still general among the laity that one who is stout or overweight is necessarily not subject to tuberculosis and that one who is spare or underweight is more likely to have it. There is no foundation in fact for either supposition."

T. N. Kahn, a New York authority, and Sumnerfield, a Berlin authority, have made special studies of the relation of body weight to the development of tuberculosis, and their conclusions are in accord, that there is no definite relation notable in a large series of cases."

These two investigators, working independently, found that the average weight of the lung patients of either sex and of every age maintain normal weight or actually gain in weight while under treatment. Both observers agreed that it is only in the third stage of tuberculosis, the stage of actual consumption, advanced tuberculosis, cavitation, or the lung, that there is always a loss of body weight."

I am a young man, twenty-three years of age, and I like a girl very much who is in my Sunday school class. The whole Sunday school is to have a picnic and I wanted to take this girl. When I asked her she thanked me and said she expected to go with the girls and could not accept my invitation. Do you think the girl tried to out me? Should I like to go with her? I am very much in love with her and I would like to take her somewhere else if I knew she would go.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Would it be all right to go to a lake with a young man twenty-eight years old if we are properly chaperoned? There are two other girls going with me. They are fifteen and fourteen years old.

(2) Would it be all right to wear a pleated skirt, long-sleeved blouse, white oxford, white stockings and a white Panama or

"On my feet! I do not understand," Barney stared at his friend, incomprehensibly.

"You were rather hard hit, you know, and you did not think you would ever cover enough to do business for some time," Dick looked fixedly at his friend as he spoke.

"Now if you are trying to work some of your clever stunts on me, you are wasting my time. Do you mean to say you remember nothing about being in the hospital, or the journey to New York? Dick's tone was the one you use with children when trying to recall a forgotten command."

"Really, Dick, you look as solemn as an owl, as you often do when trying to get your jokes across. Drop it, will you, and let me in on your banter. I have not had a decent night's rest for a week. We were held up for twenty-four hours by a wash-out on the narrow gauge just east of Canyon City, and all night. He threw his satchel into the corner and stretched himself out on a divan."

"The opinion is still general among the laity that one who is stout or overweight is necessarily not subject to tuberculosis and that one who is spare or underweight is more likely to have it. There is no foundation in fact for either supposition."

T. N. Kahn, a New York authority, and Sumnerfield, a Berlin authority, have made special studies of the relation of body weight to the development of tuberculosis, and their conclusions are in accord, that there is no definite relation notable in a large series of cases."

These two investigators, working independently, found that the average weight of the lung patients of either sex and of every age maintain normal weight or actually gain in weight while under treatment. Both observers agreed that it is only in the third stage of tuberculosis, the stage of actual consumption, advanced tuberculosis, cavitation, or the lung, that there is always a loss of body weight."

EVERYDAY ENOQUETTE

(Miss Hoyt will answer in this paper all questions on matters of etiquette addressed to her in care of this paper. If a personal answer is desired enclose a two-cent stamp.)

If a woman has been legally separated from her husband she may use upon her card her own maiden name with the surname, as "Mrs. John T. Tilford" instead of "Mrs. John T. Tilford" which she formerly used, or she may entirely drop any prefix except "Mrs." and have engraved "Mrs. Tilford."

Mrs. F. You should not send your little girl into the parlor to entertain a visitor unless the visitor has been asked to see the child; and you should never take a child with you when making a call unless she has been especially invited. Children are no important nor as entertaining to other people as to their mothers.

Bereaved: - Girls and boys under sixteen do not wear mourning. A widow begins making calls after six months. She then returns the calls made upon her immediately after the death of her husband. The band or crape worn by men on sleeve is sometimes seen. A man's mourning varies from a complete suit of black to narrow hat-band of crape, accord-

Barney changed his seat so that he could see the face of his friend," he thought. "He said I was ill, and he allowed him to leave the hospital. I wish Burton would come in and let him in to the sanitarium in the Adirondacks."

"When did you leave the Adirondacks?" was Dick's next question. He reasoned that his memory would reach back as far as the Farnsby's eyes had been closed, but they flew open suddenly.

"Adirondacks?" "Yes." "About ten years ago, I should say. I spent a summer there when a young man."

"Dick gasped. 'It is worse than I thought. He is pretty bad off.' Aloud he said, 'I heard you had been there to recuperate this summer.'"

"Recuperate! I have had no chance to recuperate this summer, but I shall need to lay off for that purpose if you keep on talking your infernal rot. I am tired, and I shall go to bed on the divan and closed his eyes."

"Dick rose much perturbed in spirit and stroled to the porch to watch for the arrival of Burton. When he turned up the walk he rose and went to meet him."

"What do you think?" he began. "George Farnsby is here and he remembers nothing about his sickness or the journey to the sanitarium. I asked him when he left the Adirondacks and he said ten years ago. It is not safe to have him going around doing business in that condition. What had we better do? Burton wondered."

"Let's act as if nothing had happened and see how he is. They say memory of such things comes back suddenly, of course he will have the doctor see him before he goes. Where is he? Burton ascended the steps."

SIDE TALKS

-BY- RUTH CAMERON

MONEY PLUS

Someone was telling us the other night of a man who gave up a ten thousand dollar position offered him by a corporation and took a $1,200 professorship. (He actually said a twenty thousand dollar position but I didn't dare put it that way lest I overstrain your credulity.)

Said the Authorman's Wife, "I don't believe it."

Said the Authorman, "Wants-to-be-Cynic, 'Was he carried off by the Scherzade. 'Thought not,' said the Cynic."

"I suppose he expected to make it up in what he got out of his life," said the Lady-who-always-knows-somewhat. "Did he?" asked the Cynic.

And He Made the Money After All. "I think so," said the Scherzade. "He was always tremendously interested in his work. And the most wonderful part was that he made money after all. He was an expert in analytical chemistry and they call him now to testify in certain kinds of cases and give him big fees. And he lectures and writes too. Guess he makes as much as he would have with the corporation and is his own master and does the work he likes on top of it."

"Rather more than lucky I should say," said the authorman. "And the lady quoted: 'Work for the work's sake then and that these things shall be added unto thee.'"

WAR PROSPERITY HITS WASHINGTON

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Washington, July 23.—War prosperity has hit Washington and those who have rooms to rent are getting rich. The capital's population is growing rapidly. Every train brings its load. War talk fills the air.

The government and the various industries that have established war headquarters here will need 50,000 more clerks before the dog days, according to conservative estimates. Already there is a famine in stenographers. Uncle Sam commandeered them.

New government offices are springing up all over the city. Department offices which for generations have been small, quiet affairs have suddenly become bloated to twenty times their usual size. This means more employees. The restaurants are busier than Coney Island chowder kitchens. The street cars are almost always jammed to the guards and frequently blocked. Apartment houses have been made into hotels—residences in some cases. In some cases startling prices are demanded for coats. All rents are upward bound.

The telephone service is swamped—the messenger service overwhelmed. Streets are crowded and the aged hackmen are investing in liberty bonds. Now Uncle Sam is meditating commandeering more office space and ousting private firms. It's a seething situation—but as the French say: "C'est la guerre."

NECKOW BANGSKY.

(Translated from the Russian.) In the midst of an enthusiastic silence, Petroff Doosky, president of the Nihilistic Anarchists' Extermination Society, stood up to address that body. His voice broke with emotion and his whiskers beamed with happiness.

"Fellow brothers," he said, "it is with the greatest skookalouch (joy) that I am able to announce the disbanding of this honorable society. Our dear Russia now being free, one

"I call it luck, though," persisted the Scherzade. "That wouldn't happen twice in a century."

"First Find the Big Man."

"It would if you found a man big enough to give up that ten thousand dollar position for the chance to do the kind of work he loved," said the Authorman. "You see he was a man who was thinking all the time of the work he was doing and the power of the money he was going to get for it. That's one of the reasons behind sloppy work—the worker is thinking of what he'll earn and what he'll do with it and not of what he is doing. I catch myself doing that sometimes and that's the time I write the rotten stories. Find a man who thinks primarily of his work and you get a man who will half a chance will get somewhere."

He Never Did Business Primarily For Money. "Right, sir," said the Cynic. "You know Mr. H. (He mentioned a very successful baker who has built up a huge business from nothing). He said to me once I never did business primarily for money, and it was true and that's why he makes the best bread in the country."

"Money is a god thing," said the Authorman. "But money plus is a hundred times better even if it has to be less money."

"Plus what?" said the Authorman's wife.

"Plus a heart in your work," said the Authorman.

Russian is as good as another, and a darn sight better. Hence there is nobody to exterminate, and our work is done. I thank you each and everyone for your loyalty in the great task which is now finished, but most of all I thank Neckow Bangsky, our faithful official, because he threw in whom we must acknowledge our gratitude for making the N. A. E. S. the most successful of all the thousands of extermination societies. Neckow Bangsky is largely responsible for the present freedom of Russia."

With three yowls (cheers) the N. A. E. S. broke up forever, none remaining in the days of the Neckow Bangsky, whose unerring right arm had planted so many bombs where they would do the most good. "Russia free!" he muttered. "No need to kill another soul—not another soul to kill! Ah! I can't hear it!"

And taking a 999 horse power bomb from the bomb-closet, he sat on it, lit the fuse, and closed his eyes.

EVICTED WAR GARDEN PLANTER GETS SETTLEMENT FOR LABOR

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) Milwaukee, Wis., July 23.—The Legal Aid Society obtained a settlement of $40 for a laborer who after renting a cottage and planting a garden was evicted. The society determined that no tenant could be ejected without compensation for the labor and money put into his garden.

"SAMMIES" TO BE WELL FED; EVERYTHING OF THE BEST

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Washington, July 23.—Uncle Sam's soldiers in France won't be obliged to subsist on the ordinary "beef and beans" popularly supposed to be the only army edibles.

Food contracts placed by the government show the American fighters will have four kinds of tea, coffee and plenty of fruit. There will be pickles, all sorts of peppers and spices, potatoes, onions, flour for biscuits, hard bread, cane syrup, vanilla and lemon flavorings, light butter, and dried fish, vegetables, apples and peaches.

A sentry never gives up his rifle to any one, not even to the general, no matter how persistently the latter may demand it.

SUFF DISTURBANCES ABOUT WHITE HOUSE ALWAYS REHEARSED

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Washington, July 23.—Every militant suffrage disturbance in Washington is planned, rehearsed and carried by the National Woman's party like the big scene in a movie melodrama. Then it is "put across" on schedule time, when the suffragist captains are sure the newspaper correspondents and camera-men are out in force, when advance notices have drawn a crowd to the spot and when the vote hunters are sure they will get the money's worth in world-wide publicity.

Miss Alice Paul and Miss Lucy Burns are the stage-managers. They write the scenarios. Mrs. Abbey Scott Baker, Queen of Press Agentesses, commands the army of scribes which spreads the startling details and makes sure all newspapers and press associations are kept informed.

When a riot is planned the hour is usually set for 12:30 p. m. or 4:30 p. m., when the necessary spectators and participants will be supplied by crowds of clerks coming from the government offices. The building of the militants' "show" is planned at their headquarters near the White House. Volunteers crowd around the leaders, anxious to be cast in prominent roles. Mrs. Baker's brigade gets busy. Telephone tinkle in all newspaper offices. The event is announced. The rehearsal completed, out sally the women, their stunts, get arrested, get released and return to headquarters.

Then rings the clatter and clash of typewriters. They batter forth sarcasm, cast aspersions on the scene, and when the dust settles the patrol wagons cease their clangor and the angry cries of the mob die away, starting headlines in the newspapers mark the end of the militants' performance.

IF YOU CAN'T FIGHT TEAR UP U. S. STAMPS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Washington, July 23.—A two-cent-a-day "bit" for would-be patriots who can't fight, buy liberty bonds or display them on their automobiles, urging others to join the army, was suggested to Senator Ashurst of Arizona by Daniel T. Brown of California.

Brown, a Jistisla survivor, wrote from the California home of disabled soldiers—of whom he is one: "Let everybody who can't fight or buy bonds destroy a new two-cent stamp every day. We're all doing it. It means $7.30 a year for the government—almost all clear profit."

TODAY'S WAR RECIPE.

From Britain's official win-the-war cook book.

Fish Omelet. For four people—Two heaped tablespoons of cooked fish, one tablespoonful of grated cheese, two eggs, one tablespoonful butter, pinch of cayenne and salt. Beat the yolks of the eggs and mix the cheese and seasoning. Fold in the whites of the eggs, whipped to a stiff froth, and put the mixture quickly into a frying pan in which the butter has been melted. When the eggs begin to set, stir in the fish, and cook until the omelet is done. Serve immediately.

Lighten the Day's Work by eating food that does not use up all the vital powers in an effort to digest it. Every particle of Shredded Wheat Biscuit is digested and converted into healthy tissue and caloric energy. In the present food crisis every housekeeper and mother should demand bread that is 100 per cent. whole wheat. Shredded Wheat Biscuit is made of the whole wheat grain prepared in a digestible form. Better than oat, or eggs, or potatoes, and costs much less. For breakfast or any meal with sliced bananas, berries or other fruit. Made at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

TRENCH TALES.

"It was very easy taking the first line," a Welsh infantryman was explaining to a wounded comrade. "We only had to follow the barrage. Then when we were consolidating the second line, the Germans put in a good one. They came bombing down the trench. It was well done and I got hit, and our boys had to go back. The Germans were much too strong—five or six to one. Yes, I was left behind. I'd got in the hip and arm you see. A German stretcher-bearer bound up my arm with my field dress, but he did nothing for my hip. I couldn't turn around on the ground, maybe that was it. They left me alone, though some of them passed by, and I was very lucky for they left me lying where I was. I lay for the night and in the morning our boys came and trench and stuck it this time. I was carried back to the clearing station."

IF MEN HAD TO DO THE WASHING

They would make one grand rush for NRG (Energy) Laundry Tablets. NRG has freed thousands of Milwaukee women from washboard slavery. ## The Real Adventure

A NOVEL

By Henry Kitchell Webster

(Copyright 1916, The Dumas-Morris Company)

"I don't know," she said saggedly.

There was a seven-thirty train to town, and they finished their walk at the station. She got back to her apartment about nine. Two corners of white paper protruded from under her door, a visiting card and a folded bit of paper. It was Rodney's card, and on it had been written: "Sorry to have missed you. I'll come back at eight."

Her shaking fingers fumbled pitifully over the folds of the note, but she got it open at last. It was from him, too. It read:

Dear Rose: This is hard luck. I suppose you're off for a week-end somewhere. I want very much to see you. When can you come back and have lunch for me with you? I'll wait until I hear from you. RODNEY.

When the telephone girl switched her to the information desk, and the information clerk said, "Mr. Rodney Aldrich? Just a moment," and then: "Mr. Aldrich is in fifteen minutes," the contraction in her throat made it impossible for her to speak. She couldn't answer his first "Hello," and he said it again, sharply, "Hello, what is it?"

And then suddenly her voice came back. A voice that startled her with its distinctness. "Hello, Rodney," she said. "This is Rose."

"There was a perfectly blank silence after that, and then the crisp voice of an operator somewhere—'Waiting'."

"Yes," she heard Rodney say, "get off the line." And then to her: "I came to see you this afternoon, and again tonight."

"Yes, I know," she said. "I just this minute got in. Can't you come back again now?" How in the world, she wondered, could she manage her voice like that! From the way it sounded she might have been speaking to Alice Pershing, and yet her shaking hand could hardly hold the receiver. She heard him say:

"It's pretty late, isn't it? I don't want to . . . You'll be tired and . . ."

"It's not too late for me," she said, "only you might come before it gets any later."

She managed to wait until she heard him say "All right" before she hung up the receiver. Then a big, rattling sob, not to be denied any longer, poured upon her and shook her.

BROKEN DOWN IN HEALTH

Woman Tells How $5 Worth of Pinkham's Compound Made Her Well.

Lima, Ohio.—"I was all broken down in health from a displacement. One of my lady friends came to see me and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound and to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

After three doctors said I never would stand up straight again. I was a mild wife for seven years and I recommended the Vegetable Compound to every woman to take before birth and afterwards, and they all got along so nicely that it surely is a godsend to suffering women. If women wish to write to me I will be delighted to answer them."

—Mrs. JENNIE MOYER, 342 E. North St., Lima, Ohio.

Women who suffer from displacements, weakness, irregularities, nervousness, backache, or bearing-down pains, need the tonic properties of the roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A NATURAL MISTAKE.

IT'S A FINE SIGN OF PATRIOTISM TO SEE ALL THOSE BUSINESS-MEN WORKING IN THE FIELDS

THEY'RE NOT WORKING IN THE FIELDS—THEY'RE LOOKING FOR THEIR GOLF BALLS

the key to his preoccupation. They had turned into the park at Sixty-sixth street, and were half-way over to the Fifth Avenue corner at Fifty-ninth, before he spoke out.

"On a day like this," he said, "to have sat there for two or three mortal hours arguing about stale ideas—when we might have been out here, being alive! But it must have seemed natural to you to hear me going on like that." And then with a burst, before she could speak:

"You must remember me as the most blindly opinionated fool in the world!" She caught her breath, then said very quietly, with a warm little laugh in her voice: "That's not how I remember you, Roddy."

She declined to help him when he tried to scramble back to the safe shores of conventional conversation. That sort of thing had lasted long enough. And when they stopped and faced each other in the gray brick entrance to the building where Rose's apartment was, it was at the end of a mile or more of absolutely unbroken silence. And facing each other there, all that was said between them was her:

"You'll come in, won't you?" and his "Yes."

But the gravity with which she'd uttered the invitation and the tenseness of his acceptance of it, the square look that passed between them, marked an end of something and the beginning of something new.

She left him in her sitting room while she went into her room to take off her hat and jacket and take a glance into her mirror. When she came back she found him standing at her window, looking out. He didn't turn when she came in, but almost immediately he began speaking. She went rather limp at the sound of his voice and dropped down on an ottoman in front of the fireplace, and squeezed her hands together between her knees.

"I don't know how much you will have understood," he began, "probably a good deal. What I hope you will have guessed is that I wouldn't have come except that I'd something to tell you—something I felt you were entitled to be told. But I felt—this is what you won't have understood—I felt that I hadn't any right to speak to you at all, about anything vital, until I'd given you some sort of guaranty until I'd shown you that I was a person it was possible to deal reasonably with."

She smiled, then pressed her hands suddenly to her eyes. "I understood," she said.

"Well then . . ." But he didn't at once go on. Stood there a while longer at the window, then crossed the room and brought up before her bookshelves, staring blindly at the titles. He hadn't looked at her even as he crossed the room.

"Oh, it's a presumptuous thing to try to say," he broke out at last, "a pitifully unnecessary thing to say, because you must know it without my telling you. But when you went away you said

"You'll Come In, Won't You?"

—you said it was because you hadn't my friendship! You said that was the thing you wanted, and that you were going to try and earn it. And you told me that I'd never be able to see that the thing you were doing there was a fine thing, worth doing, entitled to my respect. But what I've come down here to say is—is that now, at last—I do see it."
